TRADITIONAL HAMMAMS

This 5 centuries old traditional hammam has made Zaouiat Tanaghmelat famous. It offers its services free of charge to the village's inhabitants by following ancestral tribal customs and organization. A fine illustration of Amazigh solidarity! You can admire the building, visit the water heating installations and find out how the community organizes itself. Location: village of Tanaghmelat.

Geosites

enthusiasts of geology*

OUZOUZ WATERFALLS

The spring waters upstream form the Oued Tissakht which flows in spectacular waterfalls over a drop of more than 110 m high. The rocky cirque framing this impressive waterfall is carved out of Middle Jurassic limestone (approx. 170 Ma), lined with limestone concretions called travertines. This rock results from the chemical precipitation of calcium carbonate, a process still active today. This Site of Biological and Ecological Interest (SBEI) offers diverse habitats for fauna (maggot monkeys, bats, etc.).

GORGES OUED EL ABID

The Gorges Oued El Abid with a depth of 400 to 600 meters have red and steep walls. They were dug by Oued el Abid, the main tributary of the Oum Errabia. Location: On the road to Ait Attab.

JEMAA IKARIOUNE CAVES

For amateurs, 2 km from the waterfall, you can admire the stalactites and stalagmites of these natural caves. Location: Mougrsafen.

Biological and Ecological Riches

SBEI OF OUZOUD

The waterfall area is located on the Ouzoud River, approximately 1.5 km from its main source. The waterfall's waters flow over a gently sloping limestone slab before cascading down in a three-tiered travertine formation. The vegetation is lush, especially downstream of the waterfall. A stunning and dynamic cedar forest surrounds the entire valley and extends to the south. A small population of monkeys thrives in the cedar forest, and there is a strong presence of birds, including birds of prey, throughout the site and the valley downstream of the wadi. The landscape quality of the site is exceptional.

A Site of Biological and Ecological Interest is the term used for protected areas in Morocco. A SBEI is a remarkable ecosystem, with a high concentration of rare or endangered endemic plant and/or animal species, or with a high biodiversity index.

Help us save the M'Goun Geopark

Let's preserve cultural heritage by supporting authentic experiences.

Let's respect the local culture and support communities by purchasing local products and by participating in solidarity activities.

Let's preserve our biological and ecological heritage.

Water is a limited resource. Let's reduce its consumption by using tap water and shower water wisely and reusing towels in our accommodation facilities.

Let's reduce our energy consumption in terms of air conditioning and electricity in the accommodation facilities.

Let's dispose of our waste in appropriate places to preserve the environment and the beauty of the valley.

THANK YOU FOR CONTRIBUTING TO SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR M'Goun Geopark!

M'GOUN UNESCO GEOPARK

The M'Goun UNESCO Geopark is the first Geopark in Morocco, Africa and the Arab world. This protected territory includes a large number of geosites of exceptional interest and many places of high ecological, archaeological, historical and cultural value. There are notably remarkable footprints of sauropod and theropod dinosaurs as well as numerous deposits of dinosaur bones.

Located in the Central High Atlas between Beni Mellal in the north and the crest line of Ighil M'Goun in the south, the M'Goun Geopark covers an area of approximately 5700 km² and includes 15 municipalities : Azilal; Demnate Tilouguite Zawiya Ahansal Tabant Ait M'Hamed; Ait Taguella Agoudi N' Lkheir Ait Abbas; Ait Boulli; Ait Blal Sidi Boukhelf Tifni Anergui and Boutferda.
